Direct Mail and Consulting

Since 1993 American Marketing & Publishing, Inc. has been helping Republicans and conservative organizations get their message to voters through direct mail. Our focus has been to help elect Republican candidates at every level of government in order to restore integrity to public office and limit the size of government.

Over the years we have been proud to have played a role in some of the leading campaigns across the country and historical Republican takeovers of our time. From statehouse to presidential campaigns, we have worked to elect some of the countries best leaders.

Our mission today is the same as when we started: Help provide Republican candidates with the tools and materials they need to defeat Democrats and the liberal agenda of higher taxes and larger government.
